C'mon

Can you feel my pain
And can you see this bloodstain
Dripping from my chest
Indifferent from all of the rest
Blinded by my fear
Innocence is far from near
You will see him die
Too far to hear his cries

And when you wake up next to him
Bones bare and his shattered limbs
You will realize you are far from home
So take another step
Inhale your last breath
Cuz very soon you're name will be carved on stone

My blackened heart is burning faster than before
(Before)
All of my dreams have been tattered and torn (tattered and torn)
Because of you there is no end
To this god forsaken sin
I'm gonna make you wish you were never born

Do you feel the same
After you've been put to blame
For his unexpected pass
How's it feel under the mass
Now redemption bought you guilt

And the painful dues were dealt
Now's the time to rise away
So don't you stand in my way

And when you're time is running out
You mustn't be filled with doubt
How's it feel when the tables have turned on you
And when you think that it's worthwhile
For them to fall for your crooked smile
You be put at stake and now be burned

My blackened heart is burning faster than before
(Before)
All of my dreams have been tattered and torn (tattered
and torn)
Because of you there is no end
To this god forsaken sin
I'm gonna make you wish you were never born

My blackened heart is burning faster than before
(Before)
All of my dreams have been tattered and torn (tattered
and torn)
Because of you there is no end
To this god forsaken sin
I'm gonna make you wish you were never born
