Dear sir, did I see you fleeting?
I care for your heart but not for it beating

You tried to put a frown on me, fell me down
You're spreading bad things about me all over town
But I'll show no frown

Because all over town, yes, all over town
There are people who would undermine you if they could
Don't let them in

What do you see when you see me sir?
The very same thing that makes you bitter
See you say all these outrageous things

That's what you do, yes, but you're no poet man
You just want everyone looking at you
So I'll show no frown

Because all over town, yes, all over this town
could
Don't let them in

Because all over town, yes, all over this town
could
Don't let them in

Oh, all over town, yes, all over this town
There are people who would undermine me if they could Won't let them in
