You're my sun, my moon, my skies
You're my everything
You're my sun, my moon, my skies
You're my everything

And everyday being with you
Makes me think, what a new day will bring You're my life and my breath
You're exactly what I need right now
And I'll never take you for granted, no, not for a moment

And then I find myself alone out here
Thinking of what we could have been
And I know this loneliness is not for me
And then I find myself alone out here

Thinking of what we could have been
And I know this loneliness is not for me
We should be together for eternity

Don't let go to, let me know this is over
And maybe I held on to long but now, I see
The life I left was not the best and I no longer believe You're not the one I knew but I'll stay true to my heart and myself

And then I find myself alone out here
Thinking of what we could have been
And I know this loneliness is not for me
And then I find myself alone out here

Thinking of what we could have been
And I know this loneliness is not for me
We should be together for eternity

I know I'll find myself
I know I'll find myself
I know I'll find myself
I know I'll find myself
