"Silent Hill"

I start to search all of the places that I have found
All the deep creases in my mind that are torn up somehow

I want to keep the pace
I want to figure it out
I've got to do it this way
If I don't, everything stops

Have you ever really noticed the blanket of shame
From the torment and pain
As you realize that, no one's ever been there
Have you ever looked at the violence you hide
All this running inside
You can't escape, it's
Always been there

I tear a hole inside my head to let the demons go
I cut my flesh to purge the hatred from so long ago

I want to keep the pace
I want to figure it out
I've got to do it this way
If I don't, everything stops

Have you ever really noticed the blanket of shame
From the torment and pain
As you realize that, no one's ever been there
Have you ever looked at the violence you hide
All this running inside
You can't escape, it's
Always been there

[Repeat 8 times]
Close my eyes, I go to sleep
It's always there, I start to weep

Have you ever really noticed the blanket of shame
From the torment and pain
As you realize that, no one's ever been there
Have you ever looked at the violence you hide

All this running inside
You can't escape, it's
Always been there
