How could we resist it
A life like this?

Dramatized and twisted with every kiss
And in the far off distance
A faint memory

The simple co-existenc
Of you and me

Just looking at you
You're out of control
You're always talking (talking back)

That look on your face
You're out of your mind
You're always talking (talking back)

You lie through your teeth
You scratch underneath
You're all but empty (talikng back)

Just looking at you
You're out of control
You're always talking (talking back)

Don't rely on this reflection
It'll come undone

The hurt of this rejection
Won't be the only one

Thank you for showing me who you are
When all that we have left now
Is wounds and scars

Just looking at you
You're out of control
You're always talking (talking back)

That look on your face
You're out of your mind

You're always talking (talking back)

You lie through your teeth
You scratch underneath
You're all but empty (talking back)

Just looking at you
You're out of control
You're always talking (talking back)

Just looking at you
You're out of control
You're always talking (talking back)

That look on your face
You're out of your mind
You're always talking (talking back)

You lie through your teeth
You scratch underneath
You're all but empty

Just looking at you
You're out of control
You're always talking (talking back)
