

Kotki Dwa

"Lament"

Visit "Lament" on MotoLyrics.com

The voice of the migrating bird fades again
The single fragment that revives the days of childhood

It's true
Surely, this world is merely a moment
In any case, we are alone, even in our last days

Words cast themselves softly over the shadow that spreads underfoot
I realized that the real end is now something I can't find The sky that sweeps over me is a lament.

I closed my eyes
I lost the light
I pay no heed to the now-distant singing

It's true
This world is a cacophony (1)
Somehow, alone, I will melt into time

The shadow that shines underfoot burns the morning
sun into my back
My heart was just scorched and frozen in place by lonely dreams
The path I begin to tread is a lament

It's true
Surely, this world is merely a moment
In any case, we are alone, even in our last days

Words cast themselves softly over the shadow that
spreads underfoot
I realized that the real end is now something I can't find
The shadow that shines underfoot burns the morning
sun into my back
My heart was just scorched and frozen in place by
lonely dreams
The path I begin to tread is a lament

