So many chances but you never take them. Opportunity is knocking but you don't open the door. I'm sick of you complaining all the time, If your life sucks that's all your own fault. You don't even try, You give up before you even start. Your place is a mess and smells so bad I can't understand how can you live like that. So many excuses, the same old bullshit, You always say tomorrow but what about today? What the fuck? Laziness is a fucking disease. If you don't make a move you're gonna drown in your own shit. Betterness will never come 'Cause it's up to you, don't be so lame. You must go and get it.
