I had a problem
I couldn't solve it
He had a falshy diamond in his smile had no soul
I gave him love and I gave him all I had
But when I needed his love back his heart was cold

Well he told me his love would never end
And he sold me and I bought it once again

Shot down shot down by lady killer
I should have seen it comin from the start
Shot down shot down by a lady killer
He took his aim and shot straight through my heart

And then it hit me
Saw him for what he was
I had to cut him lose think fast and that was that
And then I saw him
He asked me how I been Started beggin pleading crying the whole routine

Fooled me, two times
The shame is all on me
It's a, nice try but I'm not gonna make it three

Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
I should of seen it coming from the start
Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
He took his aim and shot straight through my heart

You had me thinking it was a fairytale
An old time movie just doesn't end as well Struck by that arrow blinded by your smile (by your smile, by your smile, by your smile)

Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
I should of seen it coming from the start
Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
He took his aim and shot straight through my heart

Shot down, shot down by the lady killer

I should of seen it coming from the start
Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
He took his aim and shot straight through my heart

Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
I should of seen it coming from the start
Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
He took his aim and shot straight through my heart

Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
I should of seen it coming from the start
Shot down, shot down by the lady killer
He took his aim and shot straight through my heart

Shot down shot down by the lady killer
