Would you meet me in the windy city
If I come down from the sky?
Would you take me to your fields of plenty
With horizon in your eye?

Let's take a ride across the rolling prairie
Where the old ghost dancers died
Break my heart a little wider open
So the whole world falls inside

I got 1000 reasons
And each one is enough

Found you looking like a four leaf clover
In a field all gone to seed
Worked me over like a holy roller
And I believe, I believe, I believe

I got 1000 reasons
And each one is enough, it's enough

So will you meet me in your windy city
When I come down from the sky?
Want to see you in your fields of plenty
With horizon in your eye
I see horizon in your eye
