i would do anything for you crossing every border if you ask me to collecting all the stars of yours at night chasing the stars out of sight

half a mountain if you ask me to building all the walls around me ending up with just you and me

swim the deepest seas if you ask me to waiting for you through all these years and ending up, nothing but tears

leap the tallest building if you ask me to withstanding all the hurt that life may bring and hoping still to give you that promise ring

forget all of the past if you ask me to looking forward to what tomorrow may be wishing that we will always be

leap the tallest building if you ask me to

yeah, please just love me for simply being me i may not be the best as you can see but my love for you is oh so real captured my heart that no one else could steal....

leap the tallest building if you ask me to
