I finally feel no emotions inside for you,
Was so easy just to hide the truth from you Building up these walls was just a hobby for you , the selfishness in your eyes

Is this all a dream
I was living in a fucked up place, they would look straight in my face and lie How selfish was i to think that i could rely on fake snakes just like you destroying my life And now i start to see all i was given was this fucked up place A little change of pace would do me fine, but i cant find that peace of mind to help me unwind Im running blind through landmines

Im just a little bit crazy and nothing can help
Im not even worth saving
Just wanna freak out and ball my fists
Just break these walls
Dont know where im going or i belong

Im always wrong when it comes to me and you.
Never believing me, when Ive always told the truth.
Can never get it right with you until im broken
I know in my mind its you

And all i wanted was a little respect, not to be put to the test, and find you up in my face again Down on the ground, this time i wont play around, this rage feeds off the sound of me breaking you down So i breathe in breathe out 1-2-3 and then im at it again You people dont love me, was only envy you seek,
you put your claws in me

Im just a little bit crazy and nothing can help
Im not even worth saving

Just wanna freak out and ball my fists
Just break these walls
Dont know where im going or i belong
Im just a little bit crazy and nothing can help
Im not even worth saving
Just wanna freak out and ball my fists
Just break these walls
Dont know where im going or I belong
