"Fading Away"

One of these days i'll be bound somewhere outside of this town i'll walk away never look back these city limits do just that there's nothing left that's making me stay and i'm afraid of fading away somebody show me a sign throw me an unspoken line the mercy of a gentle word a tenderness so seldom heard when that's all that there is what's left to say but i'm afraid of fading away maybe you would ask why i cannot say i know there's a voice speaking to me. . .speaking through me i close my eyes and i see somebody i wanna be but just one look into the mirror shows me what i fear most incessantly time's ticking through my days and i'm so afraid of fading away of fading away
