Let me tell you a little story about friendship
It'll only take a few minutes of your time See I would love to share with you the love that I hold inside
For Annie and I, we were just two kids from the suburbs Running around with our pigtails touching the sky
She was my mirror, reflecting the shades, oh my Annie and I

We used to fight just a little, make up just a little more We used cry just a little and laugh 'til we fall to the floor
And I wouldn't change a day
Cause things have a reason to go the way they do

The years came by and raised us
And believe me they showed us a thing or three Kicked us down but then kissed right on the cheek
Oh Annie and I

We had to grow just a little to know just a little more We had to get lost just a little to find out where we belong
Oh, and I wouldn't change a day
Cause things have a reason to go the way they do

Annie gave birth to a beautiful baby And now it's me who sends the child to sleep with a lullaby
Cause Annie never saw a new day after the car crash It happened on a slippery road, the dreams had turned in to ice
She left her name behind, but in this little girl she's still alive

And now we fight just a little, make up just a little more
And now we cry just a little and laugh 'til we fall to the floor
Well we have to grow just a little to know just a little more
We have to get lost just a little to find out where we belong

Cause things have a reason to go the way they do

And we feel blue

We've got memories to carry us through

Annie and I
