Kristiina Wheeler
"You'll Be Gone"

Visit "You'll Be Gone" on MotoLyrics.com

Why can't you see?
You know it really doesn't matter
His talk is cheap
His words are worth nothing
Bow to his feet
Like he's the only thing that matters
All he will be, is all he is... nothing

You need to stand up on your own two feet
And take a look what you want
Leave him to think of what he's done (o-oh)
He's gonna realise everything he did wrong
After you're gone

When you're gone he'll wish you would come back some
Day
But you've gone on with your life
And not a single little word that he could say will Change the way that you feel
You'll be gone
You'll be gone

Boy I have seen
The way you look at other women
Now you see me
Walking out the door
Watch me close
It's the last time you will ever see me
You'll never be the man I need

I need to stand up on my own two feet
And take a look at what I wanta
Leave you to think of what you've done (o-oh)
I have realised everything you did wrong

Now that you're gone

When you're gone he'll wish you would come back
some
Day

But you've gone on with your life
And not a single little word that he could say will
Change the way that you feel
You'll be gone
You'll be gone

I ain't taking this no more
See me walkinf out the door
I don't need you any more
I'll be walking out the door

When you're gone he'll wish you would come back
some
Day
But you've gone on with your life
And not a single little word that he could say will
Change the way that you feel
You'll be gone
You'll be gone

When you're gone he'll wish you would come back
some
Day
But you've gone on with your life
And not a single little word that he could say will
Change the way that you feel
You'll be gone
You'll be gone

Not a damn thing in this world that you could say will Make me change my mind