(Hoffmann)

It's three o'clock in the morning
And I still can't close my eyes
Your smile keeps haunting my mind
Haunting my mind
Ghosts of us in every object
Memories in every sound
It's strange not having you around
So strange not having you around

I get this urge to run back into your arms
That held me too tight
And I get this craving to be part of your life
That couldn't end the fight
And I'm wondering where you are now
At this time of night
Oh I'm still loving you, still loving you
But our time wasn't right
Our time wasn't right

It's time to start living life again
When's this pain going to end?
'Cause it's tearing up my soul
I've gotten so far from who I am
Trying to make us feel new
'Cause I'm scared to live without you
So scared to live without you

I get this urge to run back into your arms...

When's this gonna change?
When's this gonna change?
'Cause my dreams of life are shattering

I get this urge to run back into your arms!
