

Char Butler & Amber Whitworth

"Waited 'til Noon"

Visit "Waited 'til Noon" on MotoLyrics.com

So you wait outside cause you feel it's wrong, and you wait outside until the fear is gone. Oh you waited, waited, waited 'til noon. So you go inside and you say what's wrong, that you feel inside that all the love is gone. Oh you waited, waited, waited 'til noon. All the ones so close feel as if the road is long. All the ones so close feel as if you're rude. When you wake up hurtin' all the thrill is gone and you wake up singin' that sad, sad, song, you wake up, wake up broken and bruised.

So you wait outside cause you know you're wrong, and you wait outside until the fear is gone. Oh you waited, waited, waited 'til noon. So you go inside and you say you're wrong and you go inside and all the love is gone. Oh you waited, waited, waited 'til noon.

Come and hold me close, forgive me for my foolish heart. Come and hold me close, I cried out to you. And I woke up knowin' that you were gone and I woke up singin' that sad, sad, song. I woke up, woke up dazed and confused.

Waited, oh you waited, yes you waited, waited 'til noon. Waited, oh you waited, yes you waited, waited 'til noon. Come and hold me close, forgive me for my foolish heart. Come and hold me close, I cried out to you. And I woke up knowin' that you were gone and I woke up singin' that sad, sad, song. I woke up, woke up broken and bruised. Oh, I woke up, woke up broken and bruised. Woke up, woke up dazed and confused.

Visit Char Butler & Amber Whitworth page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.