when you came into my life i was so young but not that it was your fault just how i feel but things have changed it's time for you to know i wish that i had something else to say but that would be a lie now i realize [Chorus] half of my heart is more than none of my love but less than what you want half of my heart is more than nothing at all what you want it's just not enough for love but that's just not hope you understand but still i need to get this off my chest i never meant hurt please listen to me you in any way i wish the best that life has for you but it just can't be with me i'm so sorry [Chorus] now i know i promised you but how can i see it through if it's not in me to never leave [Chorus 2x] [Thanks to
