Hey boys, hey girls, my friends
Let's go and change the world

Tonight can be the night - we gotta start today Let's set our hearts on fire - we gotta start today

The future isn't written yet, we can change it, we can and we fucking will
This is still our world, you cannot steal it - try it and be killed

Brothers, sisters, comrades There's so much left to burn

Make room for a new world - we gotta start today Destroy and recreate - we gotta start today

No matter what we're gonna built, it will be better than the world today
There's nothing worse than armageddon, worse than this We're gonna fight and we're gonna win

Standing at the edge of the bridge looking at the ocean, seeing a new sun rise
The water turning red, distorted faces start to smile... again
No ethic norms, no moral laws, this is our chance to start again
To built a world based on equality not power

Freedom, justice, solidarity (It's fate, we can't fail)
