I've been hiding, hiding for so long
Right behind my digital mask
I've been trying to be someone I'm not

All these perfectly fake people
Push us to insane ideals
They're nothing more than counterfeit images

That push me away
To bleed out the pain
Don't you dare to make another move

Put the knife away
That's not what anybody needs
There's a better way
Than everything now that you see

Stop comparing who you are
To who you want to be
Let's step out beyond the surface

Don't give in to everything
The world around tells you to be
Open up your mind, release your self

Stop the lying, stop comparing
Who you are to what you see
Never letting fear hold back the change

And push you away
To bleed out the pain
Don't you dare to make another move

Put the knife away
That's not what anybody needs
There's a better way
Than everything now that you see

Stop comparing who you are
To who you want to be
And step out beyond the surface

Put the knife away
That's not what anybody needs
There's a better way
Than everything now that you see

Stop comparing who you are
To who you want to be
And step out beyond the surface
