Staring at a blank wall and all its white washed face
Not knowing why I had to choose this way
I discern I was wrong in my way
Looking for peace in another, another domain

And I realize that its true, I seek you
And I realize that its true, I need you

And I reach out and I touch you
And I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me and I know
I know that I need your touch

Not knowing why I ever retreated from your arms
A mistake I made
Now oh Lord I feel your warm embrace
Contentment fills my soul as joy lights my face

And I realize that its true, I seek you
And I realize that its true, I need you

And I reach out and I touch you
And I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me
And I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me and I know
I know that I need your touch
I know that I need your touch

You look into the sky
And see his arms of love reaching out for me
His arms of love and grace
And you know you need him, you need his touch
I need your, I need your, I need your touch

I was lost but now I'm found
I was lost but now I'm found
I was lost but now I'm found
Your touch

I was lost but now I'm found
I was lost but now I'm found

I was lost but now I'm found
Your touch, your touch
Your touch, your touch

And I reach out and I touch you
And I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me
And I know that I need you
To reach out and to touch me and I know
I know that I need your touch

Your touch
Your touch
Your touch
