

Kwoon

"The Last Trip Of A Drunken Man"

Visit "The Last Trip Of A Drunken Man" on MotoLyrics.com

This is the story of the last trip of a drunken man
Who lost his tender one in the rolling waves
He swallowed hundreds of bottles, and told his friends
He was gonna cross the sea to find his love

â€œI want to dance with you the whole night under the sea
Weâ€™ll ride the whales and fly straight to the Moon.
And dive to the deepest and coldest sands
And then weâ€™ll hear the sirenâ€™s voice saying :
â€œdo you know Iâ€™m your mother ?â€

It was early in the morning when the sun shone
The clouds were turning red as gory drawings Everyone was sleeping around the dead fire (but one was missing)
He never came back and he never will

He reached his love, and danced with her the whole night, under the sea
He rode the whales and flew straight to the Moon.
And dived to the deepest and coldest sands
And then he heard the sirenâ€™s voice saying :
â€œdid you know you had a daughter ?â€

Visit Kwoon page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.