And she fell in my arms on a night like this
It felt like never before
I kept her awake for a while
And left her alone that night

And she fell in my arms on a night like this
It felt like never before
I kept her awake for a while
But then I just left her alone that night

Now I fall on my knees on a night like this
And no one hears when I cry
But now I feel it inside
She left me alone that night

And she fell in my arms on a night like this
It felt like never before
I kept her awake for a while
But then I just left her alone that night

Now I fall on my knees on a night like this
And no one hears when I cry
But now I feel it inside
She left me alone that night

And she fell in my arms on a night like this
It felt like never before
I kept her awake for a while
And left her alone that night
