Sittin' by myself, drinkin' blended whiskey
Kind I wouldn't buy on my own
A friend came over, dropped off this bottle said it might keep me from feelin' so alone
But halfway through the ember, I'm still drinkin' it right down
But that's not enough 'cause your memory is still around

What's it like to break my heart?
What's it like to bring me down?
Well I ain't cryin' or scared or anything between
I just need to know that you still think of me

Just might move down to San Marcos, Texas
Got a good friend that lives down there
Thought I might call you, but you wouldn't listen
Hell, I don't think that you'd even care
Time heals all wounds, this maybe true
But you can wait a lifetime and I'd still be lovin' you

What's it like to break my heart?
What's it like to bring me down?
Well I ain't cryin' or scared or anything between
I just need to know that you still think of me

I'm just about done drinkin' this whole bottle
I feel a little better about things now
I still miss you, baby, I'm sorry for lyin' to you
You know I never wanted to let you down
But now I'll forget you, at least for tonight
I take one last drink and everything'll be alright and

What's it like to break my heart?
What's it like to bring me down?
Well I ain't cryin' or scared or anything between
I just need to know that you still think of me

Still think of me
