After four long nights of staying up waitin'
I turned out the lights and gave up hope
It doesn't sound wrong to say I had it comin'
I knew all along I was never in the runnin'
I'd go to the phone, but who am I kiddin'
I'm all alone; you're with someone else
So why would you call when you have what you wanted
And I'm still brokenhearted

After eight straight nights of doing next to nothin'
I thought I just might go stepping out
But there's no way I could get something started
While I'm still

Brokenhearted and I can't find a reason
You're everything that I don't believe in
But somehow I can't let go
You've got me brokenhearted

After twelve dead nights it's time to start movin'
I turn out the lights and go out on the town
And who do I see there sitting at a table
Little miss heart-breaker, ready and able
I'd say hello, but who am I kidding
I'm all alone; you're with someone else
I guess it makes sense for you to get started
While I'm still

Brokenhearted and I can't find a reason
You're everything that I don't believe in
But somehow I can't let go
You've got me

Brokenhearted and I might not make it
Another night alone, I can't take it
I don't know if I can let go
Girl you've got me broken, brokenhearted
