I'm a grown man, but I'm not old yet
And only time will help me forget
Some things that I've said
And mistakes I'll regret

When I was younger and much wilder
A rebel child, a true teenage tiger
I rolled through town like I was on fire
And mistakes I'll regret, I'll look back and I'll smile

I learn from my mistakes,
With each different choice I make
They say what goes around comes around again
I've cursed the sun and moon,
All the while I never knew
Everything that I go through makes me who I am

I've seen hard times and been on my knees
Where I've admitted defeat by my enemies I've been knocked down, and I've been burned by the best
But the fights I never face are the only mistakes I'll regret

I learn from my mistakes,
With each different choice I make
They say what goes around comes around again
I've cursed the sun and moon,
All the while I never knew
Everything that I go through makes me who I am

I'm a grown man, but I'm not old yet
And only time will help me forget
Some things that I've said and mistakes I'll regret
