Picking up the pieces
Of all these thoughts I know of
It feels like we're so far away
I've seen it all now
There's nowhere left to go
And when I'm sinking to the bottom
You're always there
To carry me back up
I know it's been a long time
But I'm not leaving everything undone
I'm waiting for our lives to change
But you and I always remain the same
Yeah
Now I'm staring at the sunset
And when I close my eyes
My thoughts become so flooded
With these memories of you and I
And looking at the mirror
I see just what it is I've done
And not one time you doubted me
Well now the road is nearly gone
I'm waiting on our lives to change
But we both seem to remain the same
And I have to tell you once before it's too late
I'd never get this far without you
