Been watching the birds fly
And I've been waiting to hear your voice calling to me again
But I know that you're too far to see me
Staring past the crowds into your eyes
It's been a long time since I've seen your smiling face
So I'm done with running away
I'm sorry it's too late
Now I've been looking for daisies
And wishing that I'd go back in time and change our world
But I know that wishing gets me nowhere
I'm feeling like the seasons pass so slowly
Oh so slow
And it's the one thing I can never be
Do believe me
I've tried so hard to stay away
But it doesn't mean a thing to you
When all around us there's so much more that I can never give
And I'm done with running away
I'm sorry it's too late
I've been watching the birds fly
Watching the birds fly
Watching the birds fly
Just keep on watching the birds fly
