Now the worst has past
And things have been getting much better
I've got our pictures locked away
To save them for another day
And every hour I've spent
Writing how we'd be together
Where this is going, I don't know
We've been riding oh so low
And when I need someone to get the whole world off of
my shoulders
It's always you girl
And now the storm's cleared up
And we're all going out to play
But the ground is still all wet
And my mind is already set
And everyday I've spent
Writing how we'd be together
Where this is going, I don't know
We've been flying way too low
And when I need someone to get the whole world off of
my shoulders
It's always you
When I need someone to get the whole world off of my shoulders
It's always you girl
