

Kyle Passman "Leaving Home"

Visit "Leaving Home" on MotoLyrics.com

So let's step back
And take another look at what's past
I've had it hard and so
I'll never say goodbye again
When it's just so easy to forget
And I've been down this road once or twice before
But never did I find what I was looking for I'll find what I've been looking for
And keeping all these secrets in my head
And all the things that you and I have said
It looks like my memory is coming to bring me down Well this isn't the first time that you've knocked me to the ground
That you've knocked me to the ground
So I'll go
And I know
That this never mattered
I'm falling below
Below
Well you don't see
Just who it is I'm trying to be Another memory of someone you would never believe
And it's just so hard to figure out
We can't stay here
It's getting too dark to see
There's not a moment I'm not looking back on everyday
I'm not looking back on everyday
And keeping all these secrets in my head
And all the things that you and I have said
Looks like my memory is coming to bring me down
Well this isn't the first time that you've knocked me to the ground
That you've knocked me to the ground
So I'll go
And I know
That this never mattered
I'm falling below
And we all are letting go
Of the things that we had loved so much before

Visit Kyle Passman page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
