[Verse 1]

When you get used to looking down looking up only means you gotta look around i see the hood around people don't believe in seeing any good around cause they live in the sky, used to looking down dead bodies, new-born souls fire in their heart, add a few more coals perhaps the glory of copping a two-door rolls is the reason why some would do a few more shows and then there is me, using music as my therapy so i hope you niggas hearing me stare at me, glare at me apparently your scared of me because the air i breathe is everywhere that you aint prepared to be im never scared of the images that you aint care to see cause if you look then you'll see what appears to be me, yep its me, im certain atleast to my dreams im more than a person

[Chorus]

I heard a voice saying (your the one) i asked who it is and it faded away thats how i know that im able to say

Maybe its because i had to fend for myself built my own walls and the fence for myself but i just want the love that was meant for myself

The only reason that im second guessing is cause i found myself smarted with the second question so im never stressin cause you can replace martyr with any positive action if you can consider harder first i said fuck stardom, ima be a problem but all of the over thoughts is why i am a starter the money doesnt do it
