I've always gazed
Since the far away days of my youth
At that faded scenery
That even now adorns my pure white wall

Entwined in a dry wind
Taking you along
Honey so sweet, grasping the limitless dreams
In my hands

On the rolling road
I got a little too angry
I got take away deep pain
But don't make those sad eyes at me

Entwined in a dry wind
Taking you along
Honey so sweet, I want you to believe me
Even if this world is a lie

I want to fly, waitin' for sunrise

Always, always
I want to melt in your sweet sweet smile

Fate as grasped ahold of me
It's getting hazy all around me
But don't shut yourself away, you can hear it
That place is calling out

Entwined in a dry wind
Taking you along
Honey so sweet, grasping the limitless dreams
In my hands

I want to fly, waitin' for sunrise

I want to fly, waitin' for sunrise
