

L'ame Immortelle "Innocent Guilt"

I see people with no faces
Lost souls searching helplessly
All their words, they leave no traces
Hatred rising deep in me

But someone who I never saw before
Pushed my hatred way up high
A former foe from former times
A fog of memories passing by

Although I do not know you
Although you bear no guilt
Although you seem so innocent
I feel the need of killing you

A presence I want to annihilate
No reasons for feelings this intense
I loose myself in dreams of killing
I loose control and every sense

Trying to be rational
To control myself again
Find a reason for this all
But my search will be in vain

Although I do not know you
Although you bear no guilt
Although you seem so innocent
I feel the need of killing you
