From the steel torn world - an abyss of hate
From the world outside - where hate rules the minds
From walls of intolerance - live on the surface
Of feelings untold - where tears have no shape
I flee

Into thy gentle embrace
Which guards you
Which guards me
My last resort
In my darkest hour (x2)

From masks people wear - to save them
Fall and scar them - from their life's short time
From swallowed pain - kept deep inside
Needs to be released - and dies

Into thy gentle embrace
That dries your tears
That dries my tears
That gives me strength
To live on (x2)

From nights darker than black - inflicted by my mind
I am blind - sorrow I bear
From bright colours - that hide the lies
From the bold odours - as time flies

From the steel torn world - from walls of intolerance
From masks people wear - from swallowed pain
From nights darker than black - from bright colours
I return

Into thy gentle embrace
Where flesh is gone
Where only you exist
Where senses are pure (x2)

Into thy gentle embrace
Where no lies exist
Where I found my fate
I die
