We must learn to see without our eyes
We must learn to hear without our ears
We must learn to feel without our hands
And there is something greater

It's the second alive, it's the second alive
It's the second waking up
It's the second alive, it's the second alive
It's the second waking up

Let go, let go and come to life
Take a walk in the burning heart of God
We come alive, when we lose our lives
Take a walk in the burning heart of God

And now the spirit opens up your eyes
SO let your heart come listen
Come and open up your hands
This God is greater

It's the second alive, it's the second alive
It's the second waking up
It's the second alive, it's the second alive
It's the second waking up

Let go, let go and come to life
Take a walk in the burning heart of God
We come alive, when we lose our lives
Take a walk in the burning heart of

Let go, let go and come to life
Take a walk in the burning heart of God
We come alive, when we lose our lives
Take a walk in the burning heart of God

I come alive every time that I let it go
I cling to You as I walk into the unknown
And as I'm walking, I am sure that I am not alone
Letting go, letting go

Let go, let go and come to life
Take a walk in the burning heart of

Let go, let go and come to life
Take a walk in the burning heart of God

We come alive, when we lose our lives
Take a walk in the burning heart of
Let go, let go and come to life
Take a walk in the burning heart of God

We come alive, when we lose our lives
Take a walk in the burning heart of God
