When I think of the time I spent
Slumbering forever in your arms
Why, did you betray me?
Those feelings etched forever in your heart are...

Those feelings of love have now
Become indistinguishable from what they once were.
My all, rotten through and through,
On that night we understood each other, even now

Even if that night's in the past,
For some reason I keep searching for the words
To stop you from going.
The passing seasons will change me
Until I can't go anywhere, even now I...

Even though I thought eventually
They'd change what happened that night, even now...
When one day it stops making me sad,
I'll have loved you till I've cried myself dry,

The one I love most is no longer in this world
Like you were breaking my heart of glass,
Please, take me in those cold arms, at least for now
So that this dream never goes cold again

The one I love most is no longer in this world
Like you were breaking my heart of glass,
Please, take me in those cold arms, at least for now
I'll never have a dream like this again,
And there'll never be a night as wretched.

I wish you'd just take me in your arms once more
I kept searching for a secret love

The sad night never ends
I had a dream of wandering hurt
