Now there's the moonlight
And I think what I'd want find
Before the light,
'Cause my failed sleep is on my mind.

My girl's in love
With a man tired and old...
She's burning inside,
But my heart now is still cold...

One night
I'll open my eyes
I'd want to find
The strenght of the man to cry...

Now is still night

And I see in the dark your eyes,
Flashing my heart
With a love that kill every lie.
I'm screaming inside,
I got pearl-tears down my spine...
Standing a while
I can see a man who cries...

This night
I opened my eyes
And now I've found
A tear lost into my eyes...

And now I've found
A tear lost into my eyes...
