Burn those bridges to the ground, ground, ground,
Without a sound we just blew up
Onto bigger desert dune (?)
This is our heart, this is their truth
Someone told you life is short but your's is long
No need for validation
So you never needed song and without harmony
You gave them underwelming for change
Lives worth ending in a flat low gesture
Passionate to some isn't that enough
Up the ladder to the lounge in an old suit
It will make them proud to crush you
See if they like watching you burn
Just like the bridge you wandered first
So burn those bridges to the ground
Without a care you know you're not before they're here
(there)
Ain't left addicted to the sound of insufficient
Only recognized before you compromised
