I'm getting used to getting old but where's my ambition
- Days of omission
I feel broken down inside because my words seem to be trite adding
To the overwhelming Always a question of truth your truths question my efficiency
Shocking - The words you can't hear Impact - The words I can't write

Recycled words don't justify...
None of these words suffice searching for the sharp words
To drive the message in I put the last words down then
I begin
To question the truth

Your truths question my efficiency
Impact the words you can't hear Shocking the words I can't write
