LOVER TO LOVER

(Keith Emerson/Robert Berry/Carl Palmer)

Tell me is there something that I should know?

Are we wasting time, have nowhere to go

Why do we say that everything's all right? We'll take the tears

Those wasted nights sit without a sound

Inside our world that it's breaking down, we lie there

Lover to lover, face to face, tearing apart all that we made

Thinking each other's the one to blame, lover to lover there's nothing 2 gain

Give me something back so we can hold on

And keep it together, we must stay strong

Did we let go as time moved on, oh the same old line

The lights go out lying wide awake

The words don't come how much will it take, we lie there

Lover to lover, face to face, tearing apart all that we made

Thinking each other's the one to blame, lover to lover there's nothing 2 gain

No one could take away that feeling

Lost in our world we found a dream worth building

Oh and all of it felt so right, so much of life to live, oh oh oh

Whoa oh, lover to lover, face to face, tearing apart all that we made

Thinking each other's the one to blame, lover to lover there's nothing 2 gain

Whoa oh, lover to lover, face to face, tearing apart all that we made

Thinking each other's the one to blame, lover to lover there's nothing 2 gain

Lover to lover, face to face, tearing apart all that we made

Thinking each other's the one to blame, lover to lover
