

Lalah Hathaway "Learning to Swim"

Visit "Learning to Swim" on MotoLyrics.com

I can't breathe and I can't see in front of me
And I am feeling lost at sea without you
And I don't know which way is left and which is right
But I will go out of my mind without you

So I will try to look into your heart
And see the man you claim you are

Just like learning to swim all over again
I have to believe that I can
And I'll give you my heart all over again

Over my head, that's where I seem to always be
And I can't breathe and I can't see without you
You bring me down, I will have known it all along
And I'll sink just like a stone without you

So I will try to look into your heart
And see the brand new man you say you are
Just like learning to swim all over again
I have to believe that I can
And I'll give you my heart all over again

So I've lived this life a thousand years
Somehow I, I can swallow all of my tears
And dive right in with my eyes opened wide

Just like learning to swim all over again
I have to believe that I can
And I'll give you my heart all over again

So I'm learning to swim all over again
I have to believe that I can
And I'll give you my heart all,
Again and again and again

Visit Lalah Hathaway page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.