can i say...

i hope that i can see just what's in store

tomorrow...

take my dreams and write them down once more

(i can't be myself)

and to take all of those times you brought me down

do you believe in somethign more?

can you find what's on the path you have in store

(and face it down)

all the wreckage

crawls into your heart

cause ther's too much, distance

take me to the start

walk me through this dream again...
