Here in this town it's always raining
Fight every battle with a mile
Set out to find the world
Found that it was round
I stood up straight and fell back down
Do take a picture of the smile there
As i lit another candle for this year
With every dream dead and gone
And all thse stars have shone, for way to long
Here in this town we feel the same way
Fight every heartbreak with a smile
Set out to find the world
Found that you were there

I saw it all that's when I learned
I watched, I failed you understand
This game we're playing
As we lit another candle for this yeat
With every dream dead and gone
And all these stars have shown for way to long
So take a picture,
Hold the smile there
And blow out another candle for this year
With every dream dead and gone
Walked the whole way home
Under stars that have shone, here to long
