Here we are Standing as one for the first and the last time
The time of our lives raising our voice demanding you've changed

And the low hanging clouds make it look like the hills
are on fire
And the rain that falls down makes me feel like the sky
is my pain
And with all that you've said why do we still hurt each other
One things for certain we're all gonna end up the same

And there we were Crossing our hearts hoping to die, and Wishing that you were still around To take all the blame

And the low hanging clouds make it look like the hills
are on fire
And the rain that falls down makes me feel like the sky
is my pain
And with all that you've said why do we still hurt each
other
One things for certain we're all gonna end up the same

(There we are)

And the low hanging clouds make it look like the hills
are on fire
And the rain that falls down makes me feel like the sky
is my pain
And with all that you've said why do we still hurt each
other
One things for certain we're all gonna end up the same
