She can not be tamed, my illusion I can dream again.
Shattered down below, she can take it yet remains the sane.

Come again sweet delight, roam again weep within Sorrow left me cold, you bring me away from the shame

Saw a flash before the bullet
Met the shadow which I thought could be my own
Once again I trusted in someone else.

Saw a flash before the bullet
Met the shadow which I thought could be my own
Once again I trusted in someone else.

Return my inner fire, reawaken warmth of undivine
So these separated times gave me embrace till we died

Without my tense desire I could not even try
Have I been deranged, it never felt this real.

Saw a flash before the bullet
Met the shadow which I thought could be my own
Once again I trusted in someone else.

Saw a flash before the bullet
Met the shadow which I thought could be my own
Once again I trusted in someone else.

I will not give in to someone inside me

Saw a flash before the bullet
Met the shadow which I thought could be my own
Once again I trusted in someone else.

Saw a flash before the bullet
Met the shadow which I thought could be my own
Once again I trusted in someone else.

Trusted someone else

Trusted someone else

Trusted someone else.
