

Larry Norman

"I've Searched All Around"

Visit "I've Searched All Around" on MotoLyrics.com

Darkness can't hide much longer
The spirit is getting stronger.
You keep the dance halls humming
But the end of the age is coming.

I've searched all around the world to find a grain of Truth.
I've opened the mouth of love and found a wisdom
tooth.

Maybe you think I'm plastic,
But your situation's drastic.
I'm glad my faith is stronger,
This world won't last much longer.

I've searched all around the world to find a place of Peace.
I've sat in the shade of God and watched the joy

Increase.

There's no time left for stalling,
Can't you hear someone calling?
Life all around is crumbling,
I think this world is stumbling.
Maybe you think I'm wrong, now
But this is my only song, now.

I've searched all around the world to find a grain of Truth.
I've opened the mouth of love and found a wisdom
tooth.
I've searched all around the world to find a place of Peace.
I've sat in the shade of God and watched the joy
Increase.

Visit Larry Norman page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

