Did you know you have a special way
Of turning around my terrible days?
You make all the bad things go away
The second that you say "hello"

It's the way that you talk,
That you laugh,
That you smile
If beauty was inches,
You'd go on for miles

It's the way that you make
Everything seem worth while
The second that you say "hello"

It's the way every love song
Reminds me of you
Along with the stars
And the sunset here, too

It's the way you make the sky
Seem much more blue
The second that you say "hello"

So if love is a drug
Then I guess I'm addicted
All I want is to have yours,
It's making my heart sick

Goodbye is what broke it
And you were what fixed it
The second that you said "hello"
