I waited by the willow tree outside your parent's house
last night.
Girl, you know I warned you.
Summer's coming soon.
If your gonna make a move, you better make your move.
Cus you know that in a week or two,
I'll be miles away from you
On the California coast.
But you know the thing I'll miss the most is you.
Girl, do you remember the time I held both your hands
in mine
And we watched the stars come out that night?
You said your heart could hardly take
The moon's reflection on the glossy lake.
And I just whispered I love you.
Because you know that in a week or two,
I'll be miles away from you
On the California coast.
But you know the thing I miss the most is
If you miss me so much
That you can barely stand it
And your heart can hardly take it
You know I'm never more than a phone call away.
I won't hesitate to answer my phone
When your name shows up on my caller ID.
But you know I can't stay
Because summer is calling me.
Calling me.
But you know that in a week or two
I'll be miles away from you
On the California coast.
But you know the thing I'll miss the most is you.
