

Last Martyrs Of A Lost Cause "Don't Take It Personal"

Visit "Don't Take It Personal" on MotoLyrics.com

We were fucked right from the start
I never knew it would be this hard You broke down my defense and you tore down my guard

We weren't even on the same page to start Thoughts of why we were what we were Hope these regrets come back to haunt you
And the things I say they stick with you

So why am I stuck here and thinking... these thoughts inside my head?
When you really were just scared because of everything I said
I know it's not but it feels so much like your fault
And it's the only way my brain can explain
And numb this persistent pain

Are you such a person that you just can't see How much this whole disaster once meant to me?

I'm sorry if you feel fucked over By the situation that you put me in
And the fact that you didn't know hurt more than you think it did
There's somethings that I'd never do to you There's somethings I'll be pushed to There's nothing left to say at all Except don't take it personal

So get get get
Get the fuck out of my head Because everything you wanna say you should have already said

Visit Last Martyrs Of A Lost Cause page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.