Hey young love, listen up,
No we don't write the stories for tonight,
So press your hands against the debris,
Say you feel something, say you feel something

Say something,
OK OK breathe in,
Try settling

No.

Because I swear, we need your voice of comfort,
In this overwhelming state of emergency,
Are you listening? Are you listening?
To a single prayer that I sing?

For tonight, steady yourself and try,
As we try to survive the waves for tonight,
Bring it on, bring on the flood,
Just wait, just wait, come on settle down,
Just wait, just wait, until we feel the cold baby,
Because I swear, we need your voice of comfort,
In this overwhelming state of emergency,
Are you listening? Are you listening?
To a single prayer that I sing?

Because I swear, we need your voice of comfort,
In this overwhelming state of emergency,
Are you listening? Are you listening?
To a single prayer that I sing?

The sounds of the waves are keeping me awake,
But the lack of oxygen is sending me to sleep,
And i fear, we won't wake up,
We won't wake up,
Close your eyes and pass away,
We won't wake up,
Close your eyes and pass away
