Get on your knees and fucking give thanks for, that self-righteous sanctity. The happiness in your heart is just one dollar away, and you know it's not you who control's your day. The happiness in your soul is just one wish away, and you know it's not you who control's your life. Kill in the name of all that is good. Teach in the name of all that is right. Organize and hypnotize. Donate and subjugate. With the human fear of death, I will take away your life's breath; and fool you with the sweet smell of a rose, to cover up all that is true€¦ I stole your life away from you.
